

Learning about clauses which are relative

Is this relative or just a clause?

He likes Pokémon since he likes animals.

The Autobot that she likes is Bumblebee

The tiger is an animal that hunts at night

The droid slipped on a banana peel even though it is careful.

My cousin, who bakes cookies, uses hashtags incorrectly.

The leopard that is black is called a panther.

Match the clause to the right noun

This is my car...

.. Who is actually Japanese

Mr Miyagi is the karate instructor...

... which only drives if I press the horn

The window... is open

... that is black

The cat... is named Dennis

... who lived for over a thousand years

The Greek God Poseidon,..., is Zeus

... which is red

The Ancient One,..., met with Dr Strange

... who governs the Oceans

Let's do this

- The star (who/which) won the Oscar was so excited that she cried
- I remember (which/when) you first went to university

The case of the cunning relative clauses

Scenario: Last night, at the annual Grammar Gala, the renowned linguist Professor Syntax met an untimely demise. He was found in the library—a place that always felt safe. Four suspects, each with a motive, were present at the scene.

Meet the suspects

1. Miss Lexia, who is the only guest who always carries a red pen.
2. Mr. Clause, whose briefcase—which contains his latest manuscript—was found near the crime scene.
3. Dr. Conjunction, who arrived late because of the train, which was delayed by a suspicious signal failure
4. Ms. Phrasal, whose scarf, which was a gift from Professor Syntax, was discovered torn and stained.

Combine the following sentences using a relative clause

- This cat is hungry. The cat drinks milk everyday.
- She found a book. The book was very old.
- I met a detective. He solved many cases.
- The scientist works in the lab. The lab has many dangerous chemicals.
- The artist painted a mural. The mural covers the entire wall.
- The thief was arrested. He stole the priceless diamond.
- The student is studying English. He sits in the front row.
- We visited a castle. The castle was built in the 16th century.
- The gardener waters the flowers. The flowers bloom in spring.
- The chef prepared a special dish. The dish was made with exotic spices.
- The singer performed at the concert. Her voice was unforgettable.